Course Description: Seminar-style course, with lectures, readings, and writing on topics of current interest in Space Science.

We will meet almost every Thursday.

If there is a colloquium, you are required to attend and ask one question of the speaker (either during the colloquium or after), and write a one page report on the presentation. The week before each colloquium, I will assign some reading so that you can be prepared (see the course web page for the assigned reading).

If there is no colloquium, I will assign reading in advance on a current topic in space science, to be discussed on the following Thursday.

Short reports

One page report (double-spaced OK) on each colloquium/discussion.
Due one week after meeting.
